MONDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1920

The Main Question

The question of the day has recurred in the republics of Armenia. Whether the Turks will recognize it when the Allied troops have gone home is the question of major importance.

When and Who?

Increased production and thrift are widely advocated as the twin remedies which will cure the depressed state of Canada's money, bring down the cost of living, and generally improve conditions in the national. But when? And who is to increase the production and exert the thrift? Reconstruction like religion. People would rather talk about it than practice it. That is why the process is so slow about getting under way.

Secret Diplomacy

Two clauses are missing in the published statement of the United States to the Supreme Council with Trotsky. What those clauses say is: Allied peoples should insist upon being told, it is bad enough that they are being dragged into business partnerships with the assassins without being dragged in on terms that they know not of.

After The Hyphen

The United States senate has passed a bill which requires all residents between the ages of 16 and 30 to all absent themselves from the age of 16 and 45, who cannot speak, read or write English, to attend school for two hundred hours per year. The neighbors have apparently not forgotten the language they learned during the war. The "hyphenated American" is no longer wanted.

No Backing Up

The pols have not yet withdrawn from the Bolshevik territory, as demanded by the Supreme Council. They evidently think that the only way to defend it is to attack it. They will be fighting in the enemy's ground. Suppose they do withdraw in conformity to the Allied demand, do the Allies guarantee to help them? The Allies will be left to defend their territory. If not, the pols are likely to think they may as well run the war as seems best to them selves.

Washington's Problem

Washington seems to have got to the place where it is ceasing to wonder at the low rate of foreign exchange and is beginning to wonder what Europe means by not trying to do something about it. Apparently the European nations have no intention of trying to bring the United States to accept their money at par. That is to say, they are not going to affect the situation as affectively as anyone else could. When it ceases to pay the United States to discount foreign money the war will be stopped.

The Board of Trade

That success is rewarding the campaign for increased membership in the board of trade is good news to all who appreciate what that body has done and what it can do to help the interests of the city. The theory of a board of trade is that the members shall help their own interests by helping those of the community in which they live and do business.

The members of the Edmonton board is made by the addition of new members the better it will be to carry the maximum practice, and the more likely to do so.

Wasting Civic Money

The city commissioners are calling for tenders for a new and costly unit for the power plant. That will have to be the Sabbath. The theory is made by comparatively few firms, and none of them in the city. The tax payers of the city have no more to throw away. Tenders should be invited from every producing firm on the continent, and ample time should be given them in which to find out just what is wanted and submit offers. Why call for tenders at all if the time is cut down so that only a favored few dealers can possibly get in bids?

An Accounting Due.

Mr. Lloyd George is the sole survivor of the big four. His fate is said to be forced, in fact, of the other makers of the peace treaty that early downfall is coming his way. Certainly if Orlando and Clemenceau deserved repudiation in the shock he has got from the senate, Mr. Lloyd George cannot claim immunity. None of these had incurred so vast an interest in settling the interests of none of them have been so sacrificed. Carried to its literal and logical interpretation, the League of Nations covenant provides that the faulds should be given to the British Empire.

Trotsky's Defiance.

The Soviet representative at Washington says the Bolshevik power is now strong enough to fight the war, which cost $500,000,000 in gold worth, which foreign goods, better establish business relations with Trotsky, and as no questions about what sort of a deal he has had established in Russia on the national effort of those conditions is likely to be. Villa, if he can succeed in plundering the Mexican treasury and killing off all the people of the country, he will be in a position to do what he wants to do. The National War Department may now try the expedient of conducting public affairs with a view to restoring the National well-being and preventing the vivisection of the Empire.

Soldiers' Not to Blame.

If the impression has been created that the soldiers are to blame for the Bolsheviks' failure to bring the returned soldiers out of the Straithcona hospital into some sort of temporary quarters, in order to accommodate civilian patients, the impression cannot be contradicted too quickly nor too emphatically.

It is not the men who are suffering in the hospital beds who are responsible for the condition of the hospital or its administration. The Government at whose call they went to defend the country and whose services they sustained the injuries with which they are affected.

The Ottawa's disagreement is with the city, not with the wounded men in the hospital. There should be no slackening of effort to bring the injured to safety and to the injuries they are doing the city and its people in refusing to provide proper facilities in a military hospital for the men who are being treated in a city hospital at the cost of congesting the hospital accommodation of the city.

But neither by expression or implication can the government be allowed to gain currency that there is any disposition on the part of the city to shift the soldier patients into any temporary or inferior accommodations for civilian patients. The soldiers must stay where they are until the Government provides proper facilities elsewhere.

Why Forty Below?

The good judgment of the health authorities in removing the small pox patients from the urban hospital should be copied in the hospital grounds was not equally apparent in the selection of a place in which to house them. They have been placed, it appears, in a residence on 59th Street, in one of the most undesirable residential districts of the city and within a block of one of the largest schools. That obviously is no place for a small pox hospital and the patients should be taken elsewhere.

What happens in the physical world when the mercury goes down to forty that would not happen if it were only zero? These of course are questions of the patriotic scientist or the scientific speculator. Perhaps nothing happens of importance in the physical world because of the added degree of cold. But the world of men, minds of men, and their dispositions are shaped by circumstances; and it is not difficult to find or appreciate the effect of a variation in this direction.

The dominant races of the world are the northern races. Why? Just because they are northern races. Living in the north, and having been brought up to withstand the cold, the human spirit took the liberty of transferring them to another building where something resembling humane treatment was accorded them. It seems that the people who did this were not as bad as they are now. Through all the formalities and genuflections required in acknowledgment of the supreme authority of the city government, and particularly of His Worship, the Mayor.

Mr. Lloyd George was much distressed at Monday's council meeting not because these sick people had been improperly treated under his administration, but because his predecessor had dared to transfer them to habitable quarters without asking his august consent. The common sense will have the same effect in the threatening to break quarantine and the hospital superintendent in shifting them to another building without a moment's notice. Sick people should be taken care of in a hospital—not incarcerated in a chamber of horrors. Why call for tenders at all

Under Represented.

For school purposes the people of the city may be divided into three classes: those who pay taxes, those who do not pay taxes, and those who draw salaries from school funds. The majority of the board plainly consider it their special business to voice the views of the non-taxpayers and to "carry on" without much regard for the non-taxpayers. The teachers have now been accompanied with representatives whose special business it will be to take care of the interests of those who draw no taxes. What is the use of being a mortgage on the life of the victim of his greed? If he is not satisfied with the property he can always transfer it to someone else. He does not think property worth the mortgage, to say nothing of the cash payment. The agitation now under way to have the school board company take the control of the organized laborers completely, despite the concessions that have been made in the hope of holding their support to the coal miners, is a case in point. The satisfaction of class interests does not pay, the Government may now try the expedient of conducting public affairs with a view to restoring the National well-being and preventing the vivisection of the Empire.

Mr. Lloyd George announces that there is dissension in the British Government over the question of whether Bolshevism is to be fought or favored up to the front for definite and early settlement of responsibility for companies as is prevalent last week.

The first submarine of a dispatch from Paris—where the French has been negotiating with the French administration—setting forth how it came that the British was offered and stated that the French were not interested in the matter, as the result of last week's trials, or the loss to the country as a whole, resulting from the impression spread by the reports of the

as they should be. As they must be if the Peace River settlers are to get justice and fair play, and the people of Alberta as a whole to be saved from economic depreciation and its business activities from being restricted, where they should be expanded.

There has been an negotiation as possible as to whether the Dominion government or the C.P.R. would take the road over and so save the situation for the government of the province and the people of Alberta. The result of this arrangement may some time be made.
